Jack Wright's Songs and Stories of Neil Diamond is a pops programmer's dream: the show covers all of the hits; the orchestra charts are interesting, playable and effective; Jack and the band are professional and used to following a conductor; the support staff is helpful and easy to work with; ticket sales were good; and the audience loved the concert. Jack captures the essence of Neil Diamond's voice and style, and his storytelling is appealing and equally entertaining.

I highly recommend this concert.
