

The Brothers Four®

The Sound of America Singing

Some performers become so iconic they seem never to grow old. Audiences 'round the world all agree, one such group is The Brothers Four.

Now celebrating their 50th Anniversary Season, they continue to delight millions with their smooth lush harmonies, singing songs and telling stories from the Great American Folk Song Book.

Since the early 1960s The Brothers Four have played thousands of college concerts, sung for four U.S. presidents, appeared at countless Community Concerts, performed with choirs, symphony orchestras and jazz stars and toured dozens of foreign countries. They are truly "America's Musical Ambassadors to the World."

Musical million-sellers for The Brothers Four include such folk standards as Greenfields, Yellow Bird, Try to Remember, Across the Wide Missouri, and the Academy Award-nominated Green Leaves of Summer from the motion picture "The Alamo".

The Brothers Four were pioneers in the musical movement that came to be known as the "Folk Revival". Today their all-acoustic presentation continues... guitars, banjo, upright bass, and of course the trademark rich blend of their four voices. An evening with this quartet is a time of pure entertainment. A joyful, sing-along experience!

"The Brothers Four... In perfect harmony with the acoustic traditions of a magical era."
